

INTERNATIONAL JUSTICE MISSION

Violence is an everyday threat to the poor. It's as much a part of daily life as hunger, disease or homelessness.

Established laws are rarely enforced in the developing world—so criminals continue to rape, enslave, traffic and abuse the poor without fear.

At International Justice Mission, we believe everyone deserves to be safe. Our global team has spent nearly 20 years on the front lines fighting some of the worst forms of violence, and we're proving our model works.

IJM partners with local authorities to rescue victims of violence, bring criminals to justice, restore survivors, and strengthen justice systems.

Our Model: Justice System Transformation

We help victims of violence secure justice, and we partner with key authorities in the justice system to fix what is broken. We do this in four ways:

Rescue

Working with local police to rescue victims from ongoing violence and bring them to safety.

Restore

Working with social workers to restore survivors to their community through counselling, education and skills training.

Restrain

Working with local police to restrain criminals, traffickers and slave owners from hurting others.

Represent

Working with public prosecution to represent survivors in court, no matter how long justice takes.
